IPL 2025, GT vs LSG Live Cricket Score Streaming Online, Pitch-Weather Forecast Report: Shubman Gill's Gujarat Titans host Rishabh Pant's Lucknow Super Giants at the Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad on Thursday. The playoff race is officially done would be desperate to hold on to the top spot they are in going into this game. Only two points separate them and the fourth-placed Mumbai Indians, which means that while the race for the playoffs may be done, teams in the top four still can make sure they have the most favourable route to the final.

Ahmedabad has been a happy hunting ground for batters and one can expect more of the same. At the same time, though, fast bowlers have also made merry here, with the quicks taking a wicket every 20 balls at the venue this season as compared to spinners striking once every 23 deliveries. Teams batting first have won four of the five matches at the Narendra Modi Stadium.

It could be a warm and humid evening. There is an orange alert issued by the Indian Meteorological Department on Ahmedabad and surrounding regions for some showers over the next 48 hours. However, chances of rain playing any kind of a role during the game itself is miniscule. The city was scorching away in the two days leading up to the match.
